6. Note on Gains / Losses

1. Types of accounts that will receive a Consolidated 1099 Package for 2016

Lending Club will provide a Consolidated 1099 Package for U.S. individuals, partnerships, S corporations, and trusts (for trusts established using an individual's social security number or trusts that have an EIN) that hold taxable accounts.

Lending Club is not required to and will not provide 1099 forms for C corporations, tax-exempt organizations, or other entities not listed above.

Note: The information in this document is directed at retail investors who hold Notes from Lending Club and who file a Federal Form 1040. It is not meant for other clients, including clients with separately managed accounts. This Tax Guide is designed to provide general information about the tax forms and answers to frequently asked tax questions. Lending Club does not provide tax, financial or legal advice. The information herein is general and educational in nature and should not be considered tax, financial or legal advice. Lending Club recommends that you consult your financial or tax advisor if you have any questions.

*Folio Investments, Inc. ("Folio Investing") is a registered broker-dealer and member of FINRA and SIPC and operates the Note Trading Platform. Folio Investing is based in McLean, VA and is not affiliated with Lending Club. Folio Investing has no role in the original issuance of the Notes and is not responsible for and does not approve, endorse, review, recommend or guarantee the Notes or the accuracy, reliability, or completeness of any data or information about the Notes. 1099-B: Recoveries and Proceeds on Charged-off Loans or Transfers

What is it? Form 1099-B from Lending Club shows any recoveries, proceeds and cost basis from charged-off loans or Notes that were transferred out of your account. Gross proceeds reported on Form 1099-B includes recoveries less applicable recovery fees for charged-off loans, or the proceeds credited to your account for transferred Notes. See page 2 of your 2016 Year End Summary. Cost basis reported is the purchase price of a Note less principal repaid to date and accrued interest purchased (through Folio Investing). See Page 1 of your 2016 Year End Summary. All Notes corresponding to charged-off loans are included on Form 1099-B and are reported to the IRS.

Who receives it? Investors who held Notes corresponding to loans that charged-off in the 2016 tax year and/or who received any recoveries or proceeds from Notes corresponding to charged-off loans or from Notes that were transferred out of your account in the 2016 tax year.

Where is it reported? Recoveries, proceeds and cost basis on charged-off loans or transferred Notes may be categorized as short term or long term capital gains or losses, depending on how long an investor held the corresponding Notes, as illustrated below.

Please note this is just one method for reporting 1099-B information. Your tax situation may be different and you should read the IRS instructions for Form 8949 and consult with your financial or tax advisor to determine the appropriate method for reporting your taxes.

Note: The information in this document is directed at retail investors who hold Notes from Lending Club and who file a Federal Form 1040. It is not meant for other clients, including clients with separately managed accounts. This Tax Guide is designed to provide general information about the tax forms and answers to frequently asked tax questions. Lending Club does not provide tax, financial or legal advice. The information herein is general and educational in nature and should not be considered tax, financial or legal advice. 5. Note on Tax Cost Basis

Please keep in mind that Notes purchased on the Folio Investing Note Trading Platform may have been purchased at a discount or premium relative to outstanding principal plus accrued interest at the time of purchase, and additional information is provided in order to help you determine the cost basis for transactions involving these Notes.

However, investors are ultimately responsible for tracking their tax cost basis. The basis reported on Form 1099 may differ materially from an investor's tax cost basis, depending on the investor's personal tax situation. For more information, please consult your financial or tax advisor.

6. Note on Gains / Losses

Generally, gains and losses from recoveries, sales or charge-offs related to Lending Club Notes are reported for tax purposes as capital gains or losses, rather than ordinary gains or losses. Generally, Lending Club Notes are considered capital assets because they are owned for the purposes of investment (similar to a stock or a bond).

Generally, realized capital losses are first offset against realized capital gains. For individuals, any excess capital losses can be deducted against ordinary income up to $3,000 ($1,500 if married filing separately). Capital losses in excess of this limit may be carried forward to later years to reduce capital gains or ordinary income until the capital losses are fully utilized.

For more information, you may want to refer to Chapter 2, Ordinary or Capital Gain or Loss of IRS Publication 544 – "Sales and Other Dispositions of Assets".
